PREFACE

Dear Students,

In this activity book, there are activities at various levels and structures that will allow you to use the knowledge and skills you have gained during the teaching processes. With these activities, you will have the opportunity to both revise the subjects you have studied at school and monitor your academic progress. The activities in this activity book prepared for this purpose were structured to include cognitive domain steps.

In the activity book, besides gap filling, matching, multiple-choice, open-ended, short-answer item type activities, there are some other activities which allow you to have a pleasant time with content such as crossword, wordsearch puzzles, skill-based activity, structured grid, and fun time activities. Also, in the "Do I remember?" section, you will be able to self-evaluate academically and you will have the opportunity to revise the missing topics through the data matrix.

We aim to contribute to your academic development with this activity book, which has been meticulously prepared by experts in the field. Hope to see the positive reflections of this study in your education life.

02

This is an aviation sport in which a pilot flies a small, unpowered, foot-launchable aircraft, most of which are made of an aluminium alloy or composite-framed fabric wing. The pilot is ensconced in a harness suspended from the airframe and exercises control by shifting body weight in opposition to a control frame. Still, other devices, including modern aircraft flight control systems, may be used. Parachutes are standard equipment, but you do not release the glider; the parachute takes the pilot and the glider together. Modern technology gives pilots the ability to soar for hours, gain thousands of metres of altitude in thermal updrafts, perform aerobatics, and float cross-country for hundreds of kilometres.

05

This is a relatively new sport using very buoyant boards with handles. They are manoeuvred down the white water with the help of fins to keep out of harm's way. Quick thinking is essential! The rider wears a wetsuit, a life jacket, gloves, helmet and kneepads to protect against the rocks and the cold.

01

This extreme sport is leaping off tall structures while connected to a thick rubber band. The thrill of the free-fall is not only the thrill, but also the jumper flies upwards as core rebounds. Maybe this is not an extreme sport as the skill is down to the knowledge of the commercial operator setting up the equipment correctly, and for most who participate, it is just a one-off thrill.

03

This sport is a leisure and competitive adventure activity of flying lightweight, free-flying, foot-launched sailplanes with no solid primary structure. The pilot sits in a harness suspended below a fabric wing. The harness usually holds a reserve parachute for emergencies. Wing shape is maintained by the suspension lines, the pressure of air entering vents in the front of the wing, and the aerodynamic forces of the air flowing over the outside. Despite the lack of an engine, the person who does this sport can fly. This sport is closely related to hang gliding, but it is slower and easier to launch and fly in light wind conditions. The minimum fly speed is 20km per hour, and the maximum is 65km per hour. The pilot can acquire height by skillfully exploiting sources of lift, typically reaching altitudes of a few thousand metres.

04

This sport is, without doubt, an extreme sport in which a person jumps from a fixed place and uses a parachute to slow down before the ground is reached. Its name is an acronym that stands for each of the four jump location categories: buildings, antennas, spans (bridges) and the earth. The idea for this sport came from skydiving, but it is much more dangerous than skydiving from aircraft. The parachutes are designed to open more quickly and at lower air speeds than regular parachutes for this sport. There is no reserve parachute as there would be no time to use it. A freefall from 150m takes just 5.6 seconds. At the other end of the scale, there have been jumps from peaks and cliffs, over 6000 metres high.

1 B Answer the following questions according to the texts.

1. Which sport is done in the air? _____
2. What sport is parachute used? _____
3. Which sport is done in water? _____
4. In which sport does someone else control you? _____

1 C Match the texts with the photos, and one is extra.

3. _____ : a high-performance glider
4. _____ : able to float or keep things floating
5. _____ : a word made up from the first letters of the name of something such as an organisation
6. _____ : a narrow band of elastic rubber used to hold items
7. _____ : the height of an object or place above the sea
8. _____ : in a position that is safe from damage or from which harm cannot be done
9. _____ : jumping high into the air or jumping to land in a different place
10. _____ : a set of bands used to hold someone in an area or to stop them from falling

1 E Fill in the blanks according to the texts.

1. In paragliding, you can reach the speed _____ per hour.
2. In _____, you use rope to jump.
3. In _____, you use some equipment to protect yourself from cold and rocks.
4. _____ and _____ are related to each other.
5. In _____ and _____ you fall from somewhere.

2 Read the description and complete the information about Anıtkabir.

All countries have a hero in their independence history. Even if you don't know Turkish history, you should have read the Turkish Independence War and heard of Mustafa Kemal Atatürk, the founder of today's Turkish Republic and one of the significant figures of the 20th century.

Anıtkabir or Atatürk's Mausoleum, which stands in the middle of Ankara and gleams at night, is the first meeting point for visitors arriving in Ankara.

Anıtkabir is the symbol of Mustafa Kemal Atatürk and the Turkish Republic. In almost all brochures introducing Turkey, Ankara is symbolised by Anıtkabir. It is located on top of a hill called Anıttepe in the city centre.

When Atatürk died on November 10th, 1938, he was temporarily buried at the Ethnographic Museum in Ankara. Then an international competition was announced for a mausoleum, specifying that the designs should symbolise the achievements and personality of Atatürk and, through him, the Turkish nation. After evaluating forty-nine designs, the joint project of Turkish architects Prof. Dr Emin Onat and Asst. Prof. Dr Orhan Arda was selected. The construction of Anıtkabir was started on November 9th, 1944, with a magnificent ceremony. Construction was completed in 9 years. The superb mausoleum, Anıtkabir, was completed in 1953. There are three groups of statues in the mausoleum. Behind the figures, you see the Lion Road. Twenty-four statues of Hittite lions symbolised serenity, power, and protectiveness. This road leads into an open square which is called Victory Square. Atatürk's mausoleum is on the left of the court. Atatürk's civil and official clothes, personal belongings, various gifts presented to him, many documents, photos, and books are exhibited at Anıtkabir. It is open every day between 09:00 and 17:00.

- Suggested Answer: One summer day, a grasshopper was playing the violin while an ant was carrying some seeds on its neck. The grasshopper offered the ant to accompany him, and the ant refused his offer. Thereon, the grasshopper wondered what the ant was doing on this hot summer day and asked where the ant was going with that big load. The ant said he was taking the seeds to their nest because they would eat them in winter. The grasshopper didn't care about it and went on playing and singing. The days have passed, and the winter has come. On a cold, snowy winter day, the grasshopper knocked on the ants' nest and inquired them some food. He said it was too hard to be outside because of the harsh weather conditions, and he didn't have anything to eat. He begged the ants to give him some food. However, the ant recognised him and said he was having fun instead of preparing for winter. In the end, the ants gathered and decided to give him some food. They invited him to their nest. It dawned on the grasshopper that it would be a good idea to be ready for hard times.
