PREFACE

Dear Students,

In this activity book, there are activities at various levels and structures that will allow you to use the knowledge and skills you have gained during the teaching processes. With these activities, you will have the opportunity to both revise the subjects you have studied at school and monitor your academic progress. The activities in this activity book prepared for this purpose were structured to include cognitive domain steps.

In the activity book, besides gap filling, matching, multiple-choice, open-ended, short-answer item type activities, there are some other activities which allow you to have a pleasant time with content such as crossword, wordsearch puzzles, skill-based activity, structured grid, and fun time activities. Also, in the "Do I remember?" section, you will be able to self-evaluate academically and you will have the opportunity to revise the missing topics through the data matrix.

We aim to contribute to your academic development with this activity book, which has been meticulously prepared by experts in the field. Hope to see the positive reflections of this study in your education life.

01 Read the texts and answer the questions.

There are three categories of the 'Wonders of the World'. These are the ancient, natural and new Seven Wonders of the World. Some archaeologists published their list on July 7th 2007 in Lisbon, Portugal. There were twenty-five finalists, and the public from all around the world chose their favourites, with the seven most popular becoming the new wonders of the world.

1. Taj Mahal

The Taj Mahal is a mausoleum in Agra, India. It was built between 1631 and 1648. It's one of the world's most beautiful structures, and it's an emblem of endless love. Shah Jahan built it in memory of his wife. He was extremely wealthy and promised his dying wife to form the foremost beautiful tomb known to man. It was built with great marbles which may change colour. For instance, if it's daylight, it's white. In the morning, it becomes pink, and on a moonlight night, it's metallic. There's a central hall with acoustics and eight-side rooms within the mausoleum. Inside the mausoleum are the tombs of Shah and his wife. An enormous pool in the garden reflects the sweetness of the building, sort of a mirror.

1. What makes Taj Mahal special? _____
2. Why did Shah Jahan build Taj Mahal? _____
3. How long did it take to build Taj Mahal? _____
4. How does the marble change its colour? _____

2. Christ the Redeemer

The Brazilian architect and engineer, Heitor da Silva Costa, built Christ the Redeemer between 1922 and 1931 on Mount Corcovado in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. It is a giant statue, so you can see it from even other cities of Brazil. The French sculptor Paul Landowski also helped build the statue, and they received donations from Brazilians. It's 38 metres tall, and its arms stretch 28 metres wide. Through the years, it suffered a lot of damage from natural disasters and has become one of the seven wonders as the years passed. It attracts millions of visitors every year, so it is also an essential point for the economy of Brazil.

1. Who built the Christ the Redeemer? _____
2. Why can people see it easily from far away? _____
3. How does the Christ the Redeemer affect the Brazilian economy? _____
4. How did they get money to build the statue? _____

3. Chichen Itza

Chichen Itza is an archaeological site in the Yucatan state of Mexico. The Mayans did a lot of rituals there. The Maya people built the city, and it is now one of Mexico's most popular tourist attractions. Christopher Columbus discovered it. Chichen Itza means "at the mount of the well Itza". The place was used for astronomical sciences and calendars.

Interestingly, there are 365 steps up the Castillo pyramid, one for each day of the year. There wasn't much water in those times, and the Mayans used the water from one lake in Chichen Itza called the Sacred Cenote. Archaeologists found human bones and gold in the lake. They believed that ancient people used the lake for religious rituals. They made sacrifices in these rituals.

1. Was it a religious place for Mayans? Why? _____
2. What do 365 steps symbolise? _____
3. For what purposes did people use this place in the past? _____

4. The Great Wall of China

The Great Wall of China is the longest wall in the world and is truly a remarkable sight that you can see from space according to a myth. Chinese workers built it in the 4th century BC in northern China for military use. They wanted to protect their homeland and trade routes from enemies. Now, the wall is one of the new seven wonders, and thousands of tourists visit the walls.

1. Why can we see the Great Walls from space? _____

2. Why did they build the structure? _____

5. The Colosseum

The Colosseum is the most famous monument to have survived from the ancient world. It's also known as the Flavian Amphitheatre in the central city of Rome, Italy. It was built of concrete and stone between 72 AD and 96 AD during the rule of Emperor Vespasian and Titus. It stood 187 metres long and 155 metres wide. It's nearly two thousand years old and people used the structure for violent gladiator games. It was the longest amphitheatre of the Roman Empire, and it's one of the greatest works of Roman architecture. In 2007, the building complex was included among the new Seven Wonders of the World. The ruins of the Colosseum now attract millions of visitors every year.

1. What did people use the Colosseum for? _____

2. How old is the structure? _____

3. When did it become one of the Seven Wonders? _____

6. Petra

A Swiss explorer discovered this lost civilization in 1812. Researchers found new tombs and caves in 2016. You can see the ancient town of Petra in the rocky walls of sandstone of one canyon in the desert. More than 2000 years ago, former Nabateans arrived in Jordan and turned the desert area into a rich capital city. It took them four centuries to start benefiting from the silks of China and the spices of India. Now, that charming place is one of the new Seven Wonders, and it attracts more than half a million people per year.

1. Who found out this wonder? _____

2. Where is Petra? _____

3. How long did it take to build this structure? _____

7. Machu Picchu

The Incas built Machu Picchu between 1438 and 1472 in Peru on the Andes. Archaeologists believe it was a royal estate or a ceremonial city. The other name of Machu Picchu is 'the Lost City of the Incas'. The American archaeologist, Hiram Bingham, found the town in 1911. In Machu Picchu, there are about 200 structures. It is still a mystery how the Incas brought the huge stones to the top of the mountain to build the city.

1. Where is Machu Picchu? _____

2. What did people do there? _____

3. Who discovered this structure? _____

4. Do we know how workers carried the huge stones to top of the mountain? _____
