SHOPPING LIKE A PRO!

Can you be one of those who rush into the store and buy something you like while walking on the street? Or are you one of those people who say, "now is neither the time nor the place for this", and move on? Yes, which group do you think you are closer to?

Everyone loves shopping. All we need to buy is one thing, but we buy the whole rack! If you have trouble staying within your budget when you go shopping, this list will help you figure out what causes you to spend more money or shop more than you need to.

Before you start shopping, try these rules;

Buy what you need but not what you want. To save time and money, always write down what you need. Make a plan before you go shopping, no matter what you're going to buy. For gifts, find out who you're buying for, check out how much you want to spend, and come up with a few gift ideas that you can buy in your price range.

Figure out how much to spend. Set a budget for yourself and get rid of anything that goes over it. By reading many reviews, you'll get a sense of prices and which brands are the best. It's essential to keep in mind that not every review is honest. According to a study on reviews, researchers have found that 30% of them were fake. You should also check the return policy to avoid getting stuck with a bad thing.

Don't buy it just because it's cheap. Isn't it easy to fall for a huge discount? You should take advantage of big discounts, but only if that piece is something that you really need to add to your wardrobe. Never buy something because it's on sale. As long as you don't wear the thing, it is a waste of money.

Do clothes swap with your friends. It's a good idea to swap clothes with your friends to keep your wardrobe fresh. Your "One in, One out" rule works by getting rid of something you haven't worn in months and trading it for something your friend doesn't like (but you have always had an eye on). Trading clothes is a great way to have a new wardrobe without spending any money or damaging the environment.

Go to a store and try things on! Make sure to buy something in the store instead of shopping online. So you can try things on and see how they look in person. You can touch the fabric, look at how it moves, and see how things fit on your body.

We're all guilty of the occasional impulse buy, but sticking to a budget and spending money wisely is still one of the smartest moves that can be made now because the pandemic has left many of us in a state of a financial mess.

D Here are some reviews about a waist belt bag. Please read the reviews and write whether it is a good decision to buy it or not.

Love It!

This is a practical, well- made item. Pockets are big enough to fit large sized mobile phones as well as everything you need for a day out and about. Adjustable front and back belt section.

Jasoon

Perfect!

Great for travel and even holiday shopping. It's comfortable to wear and amazing quality.

Merillyyyn

A poor strap!

I thought the belt part of the bag is too slippery. When I tried to adjust it, it kept slipping through my hands. Also, the bag is a little wider than I'd like. I also don't like how it hung on to my belt. Because of the weird fit and look, I requested to return. The quality looks good.
